EVERYBODY-AT-CHURCH SUNDAY

Effort of The United Churches of Norwich Was a Great Success—Over 4,200 People at Morning Services of 14 Churches—Total For the Day Estimated Near 6,000.

The effort by the united churches of Norwich last Sunday, Jan. 11, in Everybody-at-Church Sunday, culminated in a success that gave the pastors and their congregations a feeling of elation with the results achieved. Clear weather, if somewhat cold, favored the plan, and in the morning hours the appearance of the streets in the center of the city, thronged with those bound for the morning services, made it evident that there was to be a general response to the everybody-at-church movement.

On all the trolley lines on the trips around church time the cars were crowded with the outpouring of those who were on their way to church and there were many who walked rather than get into the crush that riding would involve.

From 14 churches that participated in the Everybody-at-Church Sunday, the attendance at the morning service was received that gave a total attendance that was generally about double their ordinary attendance figures. In the evening and afternoon services the attendance was a little less than half of the morning. The estimates received gave a total attendance of 4,200, with the evening congregations made the figure for the day probably close to 6,000.

In his sermon one of the ministers of the city expressed the general feeling of the pastors that this was not meant to be a day of mere religious observance, but that it was meant to have the spirit of the day carry along through the year, that we might set the people of the state and nation an example in going.

He expressed the opinion that the effort of the day had imposed a hardship upon the churches, but that could be done on this special occasion could be and should be made the rule rather than the exception.

Attendance figures at the morning service made by churches in the center of the city were as follows: Broadway Congregational 450, Second Congregational 450, Central Baptist 600, Trinity Methodist 250, Christ Episcopal 300, Trinity Episcopal 200.

At the service at the Central Baptist church one person was baptized. At Trinity Methodist Episcopal church at the morning service 16 persons were received from probation to full membership and nine persons were received on probation. The attendance at this church in the evening was 144.

Morning attendance figures from other churches were as follows: First Baptist 200, Greeneville Congregational 400, Park Congregational 550, St. Andrew's Episcopal 400, First Congregational 175, Federated church 70, First Methodist 90. At the Federated church 10 persons were received from probation to full membership.

At the Methodist Episcopal church at Baltic the attendance was 550, the pastor, Charles Smith, speaking in the morning, and Mrs. Valbur of the Salvation Army speaking in the evening.

One of the most earnest efforts to participate in the Everybody-at-Church movement was relative of a woman member of the Central Baptist church who had determined to be at church, but found herself detained in Hartford. A half an hour after midnight she was able to get away through the darkness of the night, which she had hired made the trip to the city. She arrived here at three o'clock, and found her church in the accustomed place in church for the morning service.

As the result of an Everybody-at-Church campaign at New Haven it was estimated that 50,000 persons attended church on Sunday, Jan. 11, 1914. This was 25,000 more persons than usual. Many prominent citizens were members of the movement, including former President Taft, who attended services at Battle chapel at Yale.

All the pastors preached special sermons. The movement is regarded as a complete success.

Jordan and friends were elected. The following were elected delegates to the Central Labor union: Tracy R. Burdick, William H. Burdick, Charles H. Jordan and William H. Burdick. RECOUNTS RECENT DISCOVERIES

Frank Edward Johnson Entertains Party of Friends With Pictures and Informal Talk—Wonders of Northern Africa Unfolded by Norwich Scientist and Explorer.

Frank Edward Johnson, the distinguished explorer, told several score of friends at the Osgood Memorial parish house, Sunday evening, the wonders of his experiences and observations during the past two years in Tunisia, Libya, Egypt and the Sudan.

Lightly intimate and informal talk for the pleasure of many who have followed his original purpose to study the history of the world.

The speaker addressed the company as a whole, and was very happy in the knowledge that he had the interest of his audience. The pictures which were shown in the evening were of the eye of Anglo-Saxon had never located until they were seen by Mr. Johnson.

Norwich His Home Town.

The young archaeologist takes pride in the fact that he is a native of Norwich, and wherever his wanderings, this city is his home. He is a grand son of the town's most prominent men and bankers, and son of the late Edward Johnson, his mother being of the family of the late Thomas Johnson of Norwich Town. There was, therefore, more than passing interest in the attention of those friends and neighbors who listened while he related his experiences and adventures, growing out of his original purpose to study the ruins of northern Africa. Incidentally he was led to pursue investigation among the ruins of the ancient world, and this latter work has won him fame throughout the world.

Johnson's talk was illustrated by photographs taken by himself, the lantern being manipulated by Allen Latham.

Researches of the White Fathers.

Beginning with what he had discovered and observed in ancient Carthage, he showed the famous Church of St. Louis, and described the various discoveries of the White Fathers, the priests of which order are devoting time and scholarship to the study of the ruins and records. An unusually clear picture of their famous mission, with its priceless collection, was shown.

Then followed pictures and descriptions of temples, arches, bridges, aqueducts, sarcophagi, and other ancient ruins, stupendous in their size, art, workmanship, and most interesting in their history. The pictures were shown by photographs taken by himself, the lantern being manipulated by Allen Latham.

DANDRUFF COVERED COAT COLLAR

Scalp Itched and Burned Intensely. Hair Dry and Thin. Kept Falling Out. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Entirely Cured.

64 Stanwood St., Dorchester, Mass.—"For the past few years my scalp was very much affected with dandruff. It would itch and burn and cause loss of sleep. I found pimples and many sores appearing on my scalp. The itching and burning of the scalp were so intense that I scratched and thereby caused the sores to appear. My hair would be dry and thin and would keep falling out gradually, mainly coming out from the top of my head. My coat collar would always be covered with dandruff and as it scaled off it could be seen plainly in my hair."

"I tried many remedies but without success. The trouble having lasted for about five years I finally purchased a box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first application of Cuticura Soap and Ointment showed results. The itching stopped and the dandruff had begun to disappear. After washing my head with Cuticura Soap each night for two months and then applying the Cuticura Ointment after my hair was dried I was entirely cured." (Signed) Bernard Bresnick, May 17, 1913.
